1. A source who interviewed some of the prominent local Yugoslavs in Argentina during July was informed that most of the Yugoslavs in Argentina are pro-Soviet. The Yugoslavs in that area are now divided into the following major groups:
 - a. Communists and fellow-travelers and
 - b. Persons of mixed ideologies, but tending toward Communism.
2. Although the persons in the latter group are in the majority, they are probably being drawn into the orbit of Tito's Communism because of the following reasons:
 - a. Opportunism,
 - b. Defeatism, and
 - c. Ignorance of actual conditions in Yugoslavia.
3. The Yugoslav Communist community is gradually increasing both in size and in importance as a vital Soviet force in Argentina.
